What Was Wrong.

A workman, on coming home in the evening was asked by his wife to look at the clock. She complained that the clock had been silent all day, and she could not tell the reason. Her husband took it down and examined it carefully. Then he took off the hands and face, and looked at the works with the aid of a magnifying glass. Next he blew into it with the bellows, oiled the wheels, and then put it back again. But still it would not strike. Tired and puzzled he went off to bed. Next morning at breakfast his wife said to him: "George, I think I can tell what is amiss with our clock."

"Well, what is it?" he sharply asked. "It wants winding up," said his partner.

Abe Lincoln of Course.

An Illinois correspondent sends to the Courier-Journal the following item on the authority of an old and reputable citizen of that State, who vouches for the truth of the story: In an action of trespass, many years ago, it appeared that the defendant, while building his fence along the boundary line of his land, casually stepped on the land of his neighbors, who thereupon brought against him the action of trespass as a common law. The defendant's lawyer by humorous and droll methods of defense, got the jury to render the following verdict: We, the jury, find the defendant technically in law guilty, but we assess the plaintiff's damage at one pewter button. The correspondent adds that the defendant's attorney became a "preeminent President of the United States."

Fools Not All Dead.

After bracing the shaky leg of a card table with a piece of dynamite, a group of Italians engaged in a friendly game of card in a four-story tenement house in Trenton, N. J. The game waxed interesting and their excitement increased. When Michael Conta, sure of his point, triumphantly banged a card down upon the table, a terrific explosion took place. It shook the entire building in which there were 17 families, tore a hole in the floor, upset a lamp, and caused a blaze. Through the affair Conta lost one arm. The other members of the party were less seriously injured.

A Year of Blood.

The year of 1903 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tacket, of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood; which flowed so copiously from Mr. Tacket's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful cough had brought me at death's door, when I began taking Dr. Kings' New Discovery for consumption, with the astonishing result that after taking four bottles I was completely restored and as time has proven permanently cured." Guaranteed for sore lungs, coughs and colds, at Oberdorfer's drug store. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A New Swindle.

An exchange says: "A new and clever swindle is being operated by a man who is going about the country representing himself as a repairer of sewing machines. He asks to examine the machine, and while doing so takes out good pieces and inserts broken parts and calls the ladies attention to it; then slyly replaces the good pieces he has removed and charges exorbitant prices for his work. Look out for him. He is one of the smoothest swindlers that ever came down the 'pike.'"

He Was.

A publisher who occupies a loft in Seventeenth street directed one of his clerks to hang out a "Boy Wanted" sign at the street entrance a few days ago, says The New York Sun. The card had only been swinging in the breeze a few minutes when a red-headed little lad climbed to the publisher's office with the sign under his arm.

"Say, mister," he demanded of the publisher, "did youse hang out this here 'Boy Wanted' sign?"

"I did," replied the publisher sternly. "Why did you tear it down?"

Back of the freckles the youngster was gazing in wonder at the man's stupidity.

"Hully gee!" he blurted. "Why, I'm the boy!"

And he was.
